Hold Services For Anthony Ahrens of Grass Lake Today

Painter-Decorator, 61, Was Killed When Car Hit Hy. 41 Underpass

The Rev. Walter A. MacArthur of Lake Villa officiated at funeral services this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Marsh Funeral home, Waukegan, for Anthony Ahrens, 61, of Grass Lake. Burial was in Warren cemetery.

Ahrens, who would have been 62 the latter part of October, was killed instantly Monday afternoon when his car struck the east abutment of the underpass at Grand avenue and Route 41.

Ahrens, a painter and decorator, had been working in Evanston, where a step-son, Merton Sauer, is a contractor. He had been in the habit of taking the underpass and Grand avenue route to Grass Lake, where he had lived for 12 years.

It is believed, however, that he had become confused on this occasion on recollecting that he had business in Antioch and had intended to take the 41-173 route, and in attempting to swerve the car had struck the abutment head on. He was believed to have been instantly killed.

Surviving are his wife, Mildred; his step-daughters, Mrs. Arleigh Holimon, Grass Lake, and Mrs. Edna Mae Reynolds, Oregon, Ill.; his step-sons, Morton of Evanston, and John Sauer, Oregon; a sister Mrs. Sophie Skovis, Milwaukee, and a brother, Arthur, who when last heard from was living in Chicago, but whose present address is unknown.

Wis. Plans "Port of Entry" Park on 41 at Ill. Line

Plans for a port of entry park tract on U. S. Highway 41 at the Illinois-Wisconsin line are being made by the Wisconsin state highway commission.

In cooperation with a formal order from Thomas J. Pattison, secretary of the Wisconsin state highway commission, members of the highway committee of the Kenosha county board are carrying on negotiations for a 27.61 acre tract of land on both sides of Highway 41.

Preliminary plans call for acquisition of an 800-foot-long strip of property from the state line north, along the east side of the highway, and a 200-foot-long tract on the west side.

A large parking area for trucks and automobiles is to be paved, safe cut-off drives from the two highway right-of-ways will be laid out, and weighing scale houses will be installed on both sides of the highway, according to present plans. Picnic tables and benches, would be placed in the park area for the convenience of tourists, and a small building including an information booth would be constructed.

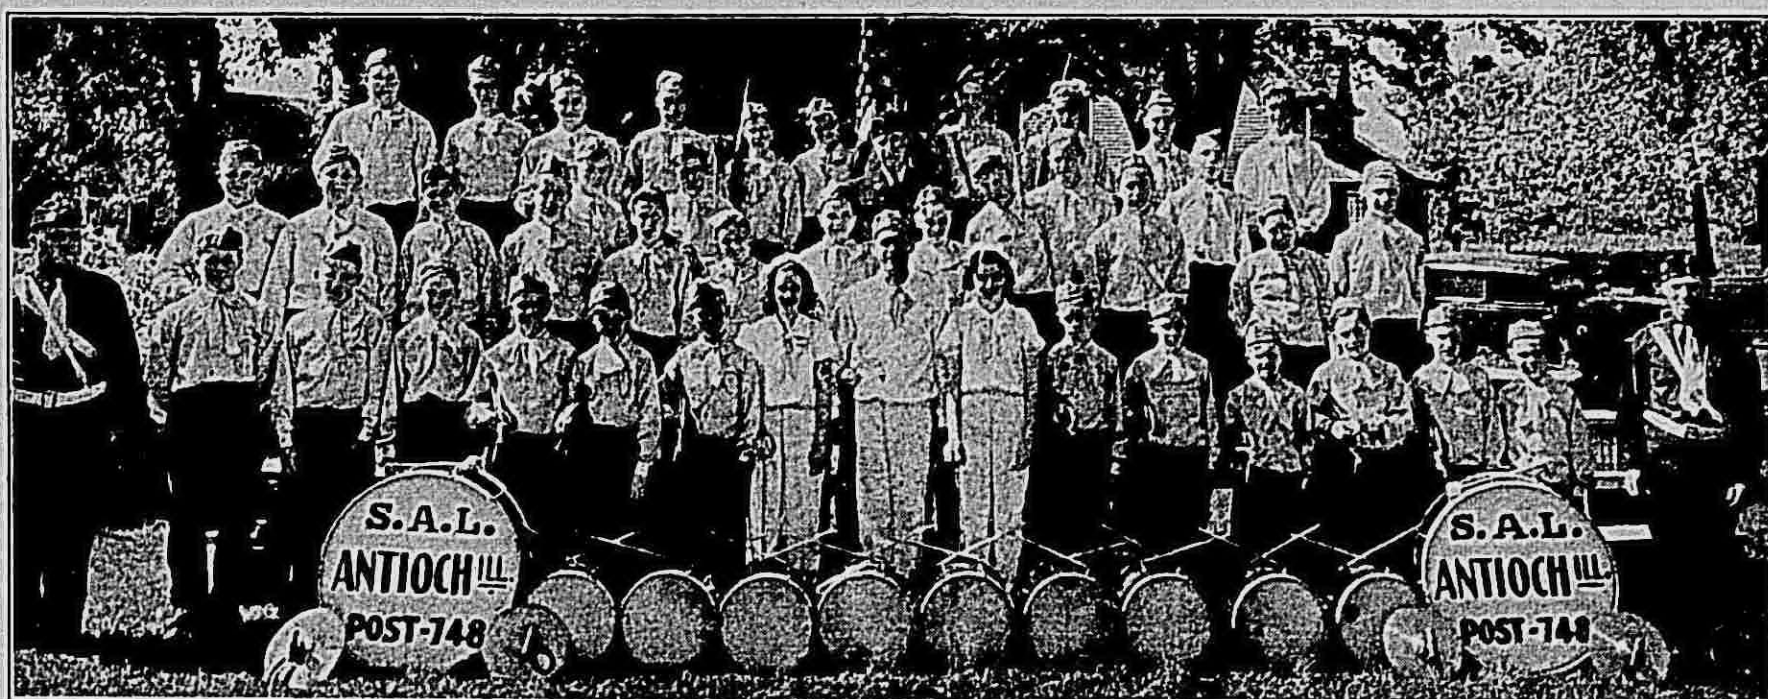

Development of the park area and re-arrangement of truck weighing facilities is expected to remove what is now considered a definite traffic hazard at the weighing-in station.

The area to be purchased includes 2.15 acres in Bristol township on the west side of the highway, owned by Theodore E. Dooper; 10.37 acres in Pleasant Prairie township on the east side of the highway held by the Fossland trust, and 15.09 acres on the east side in Pleasant Prairie owned by Fred V. Maguire.

Antioch Goes Back To Standard Time

Lake Villa and Fox Lake Will also Drop Daylight Saving

"Extension of daylight saving time in Antioch through the month of October would work an unnecessary hardship on the many pupils attending Antioch Township High school from Kenosha county, which is on standard time," Village President George B. Bartlett said this week in explaining the Antioch village council's decision to abide by the ordinance passed last spring and return to standard time this Sunday.

"Another important factor in influencing the council's decision is the fact that this year the farmers did not go on daylight saving time, and we feel that we should take Antioch's larger farm tract into consideration," Bartlett explained.

"We realize that this will work some hardship on Chicagoans spending week-ends at the lakes or commuting during the fall," he added. "But in this situation where we were faced with what might be a choice of two evils, we have tried to make as fair an arrangement as possible."

Lake Villa and Fox Lake will also return to standard time Sunday. Libertyville, Waukegan and North Chicago, as well as most of the Chicago suburbs, will, however, remain on daylight saving time for the next month.

Methodist Sunday School Will Hold Picnic Sunday

The Antioch Methodist Sunday school will sponsor a picnic outing and wiener roast for pupils and their parents Sunday afternoon in Fox River park. The outing is for pupils from the fourth grade through high school.

Those planning to go to the picnic will meet at the church at 2 o'clock and leave in a group for the picnic grounds.

It will not be necessary to bring lunches, Mrs. A. P. Bratrude, chairman, states, as the Sunday school will furnish the wieners and other refreshments.

Games will be enjoyed during the afternoon.

Bids Wanted

Bids for carpenter work, including remodeling and additions to buildings will be received by Ed Knickelbein at Herman's resort, Bluff lake on or before October 1, 1941. Specifications for the work are on file at the resort.

Two Pedestrians Killed in Accident on Highway 63

Fred Homeyer, 75, retired, who owned a home on route 63 just north of Gilmer and George Ohlson 48, a farm hand who lived on the G. D. Umbenstock place near Gilmer, were killed Tuesday night when they were struck by a northbound automobile driven by Milton Maether, 20, of Prairie View, as they were walking on Route 63.

They had just missed being struck by an automobile C. E. Norton Palatine, was driving south on 63, according to testimony of Norton and his wife. Norton reported that the men were walking in the middle of the road when he saw them, and that he swerved to the right to avoid striking them.

They apparently had moved over to the right side of the road when Maether's car came along and struck them. Maether's car traveled more than 200 feet before he could bring it to a stop. Homeyer's body was thrown clear but Ohlson's was carried for some distance on the front of the car.

Illinois Buys 34 More Acres for Lakes Park

Purchase of an additional 34 acres of land in Lake county for the Chain O' Lakes Illinois state park was completed last week. W. A. Rosenfield, public works director, announces that the new tract connects with land already purchased by the state, and constitutes a major advance toward the formation of the park.

The state, aided by the CCC and the National Park service of the department of the interior, has been at work in the lakes area for the last seven years, dredging channels between the lakes to provide continuous passage from Wilmet, Wis., to Angouin, Ill., clearing the land for use by campers, and constructing the dam at McHenry to preserve lake levels and conserve wild life.

The new area is bounded on the west side by the Burton-Antioch township road, and lies northwest of Fox lake.

Aces Close Season With Victory Over Pikeville 14 - 8

In a game featured by heavy hitting the Antioch Aces wound up their 1941 season Sunday afternoon with a victory over Pikeville, 14 to 8, at Benson field, near Bristol. Nine extra base hits, one a circuit clout by Crandall, figured in the scoring on both sides.

While Manager L. Lasco had some difficulty in keeping a regular lineup together, the Aces wound up the season with a creditable string of victories, having won considerably more than 50 per cent of the games played.

Automobile Catches Fire After Collision; 5 Hurt

The Antioch fire department and the rescue squad were both called out Sunday evening when automobiles driven by Samuel Lanka, Grass Lake, and Carl Willig, Chicago, collided, and Lanka's car caught fire.

The blaze was extinguished by the firemen, but the machine was already so badly damaged by the heat from the flaming gasoline that it was believed to be a total loss. The gasoline tank did not explode, according to L. R. Van Patten, Antioch fire chief but the gas feed line in Lanka's car was apparently broken by the impact and the gas burned as it flowed out.

Lanka, who suffered broken ribs, and Willig's ten-year-old son, Thomas, whose face and neck were badly cut, were given emergency aid and taken to St. Therese hospital by the rescue squad. The left side of the Willig car was damaged, and Carl Newman, Gilbert Vincent and Walter Stutz of Chicago, passengers, were cut and bruised.

"Paul Revere's Horse"

Announcement of a tiny new auxiliary engine that will extend the flying range of bombers, now in mass production for the Navy, brought about a brief spurt of interest in its inventor, Charles L. Lawrence. Lawrence has invented other airplane engines in his time which were used to break existing flight records, but he has never sought or received public attention.

The occasion of his latest invention, which will be of great service to defense, calls to mind a story concerning him. Once a well-wisher inquired why Lawrence seldom received credit when others, who depended upon his inventions for their success, were wildly acclaimed. "After all," Lawrence answered humorously, "who ever heard the name of Paul Revere's horse?"

That quiet spirit of service is characteristic of American industrial research. All over our country, thousands of research workers and engineers are making their individual contributions to our national security. They served progress in the past. Today they are helping to make sure that the results of that progress are preserved for the American generations that lie ahead.

Often their names are not known or remembered. But the composite result of their efforts is so plain that no one can miss seeing it—American industrial superiority, with its promise of security today and of better living standards tomorrow. Research, the "Paul Revere's horse" that has achieved all this, can well be proud of the role it plays.

Poor Relation

According to many authorities, the farmer is getting the worst of it during this war boom.

Farm income has not risen to anywhere near the extent of labor's income. Farmers are forced to pay far higher wages. The costs of all the manufactured goods the farmer must buy are also rising. And the farmer will bear his full share of higher taxes.

That situation cannot continue indefinitely. Agriculture, after all, is the most vital calling—a country must have food in war or peace. Agriculture cannot be treated as a poor relation. The nation's task now is to make an equitable adjustment between the interests of agriculture, labor, and industry.

Eli Whitney and His Critics

Critics who wail unjustly about imagined slowness in America's defense production would do well to remember the story of Eli Whitney, inventor of the cotton gin and father of the mass production technique. If they don't they'll find themselves in the same embarrassing position that his critics did.

In 1798 the War Department granted Whitney a contract to make 10,000 muskets within two years. At the end of that time he was criticized because he had produced only a few hundred guns. But he had done something far more important—something the critics didn't know about. He had invented machinery that could make interchangeable parts for those guns, and make them in quantity.

Up until that time gunsmiths had made each part of each musket individually. Whitney's method of making identical parts that could be used in one gun or another was revolutionary. It took longer to begin doing, but once the tools for making the parts were finished, they produced muskets in greater quantities than anything that had been known before. Whitney's critics were confounded by the facts of the case. Criticism sprang from ignorance of what was going on.

Today those who know the scope of industry's job know that these preliminaries are necessary and they hail the speed with which they are being completed. Mr. Knudsen has just announced that our gigantic task of tooling up is almost over. Such is the genius of industry however, that even while it has been going on arms have been rolling from factories in quantities that were thought impossible a year ago. When in the near future it is finally ended, we have it on Mr. Knudsen's authority that "America can write its own ticket on war material, and that ticket can, as far as I am concerned, be twice what anybody else's ticket is."

In the light of such a statement, what more can the critics say?

Fishermen Trio Recovers 59 River Victims' Bodies

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, WIS.—Authorities have a ready answer when a drowning in the Mississippi river is reported here and the body has not been recovered.

"Send for the Lessards!" George Lessard, 61, and his sons, George Jr. and Lester, commercial fishermen, have recovered the bodies of 59 drowning victims from the Mississippi in the last 40 years. They never turn down a request for help, and they work without pay.

"It would be a poor thing to take pay for," the elder Lessard remarked.

Because of their intimate knowledge of the river and its currents, the Lessards usually lose little time in locating a body. But one search took them six days.

British Golfers Advised

About Play During Raids LONDON.—Those Nazis can't stop Englishmen hitting back—even if it's at a golf ball. They do it with humor, too; here are some of the new wartime rules issued by the Richmond Golf club:

"In competitions, during gunfire, or while bombs are falling, players may take cover without penalty for ceasing play.

"The positions of known delayed-action bombs are marked by red flags at a reasonably, but not guaranteed, safe distance.

"Shrapnel and-or bomb splinters on the fairways or in bunkers within a club's length of a ball may be moved without penalty."

'Curb Service' Unites Couple Seeking Minister

NORMAN, OKLA.—Norman has had its first "curb service" marriage.

An out-of-town couple, coming here to get married, went to a church to find a preacher. He was not there and the youth and girl walked out to the curb and hailed a passerby.

"Do you know where we can find a preacher?" the youth asked.

"Sure," the passerby told him, "I'm one myself."

The preacher, a vegetable and fruit salesman, also offered to perform the ceremony on the spot. A woman to whom he had just attempted to sell vegetables provided a pen for signing the marriage certificate.

Miss Pierstorff Becomes Bride in Evanston Ceremony

A wedding ceremony at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Emma J. Beck of Evanston, was followed with a reception in the home of the bridegroom's mother Mrs. Cynthia Miller of Gurnee, when Miss Margaret Pierstorff and Leroy Edward Panzer exchanged nuptial vows Sunday, Sept. 14.

The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Albert H. Pierstorff of Antioch township, and her father, who was pastor of the Millburn church before his retirement from the ministry, read the service.

A green crepe afternoon frock, with a corsage of white gladioli tips and pink roses was worn by the bride. Her sister, Miss Ruth Pierstorff, who was maid of honor, wore dusty rose crepe. Raymond Panzer acted as best man for the bridegroom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Panzer of Gurnee.

After the ceremony the wedding party made the trip to Mrs. Miller's home, where a buffet supper was served.

The bride is a graduate of Antioch Township High school, and the bridegroom was graduated from Warren Township High school. Mr. Panzer is employed at the Johns-Manville plant. He and his bride are making their home temporarily in Gurnee.

ST. PETER'S TO SEND DELEGATION TO PRAYER CEREMONY AT WEISS FIELD

A large delegation from St. Peter's church, Antioch, will be among the more than 15,000 Catholics from Lake county who are expected to attend the Holy Name Holy home in Weiss Field at Waukegan, on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 28, to pray for the "early coming of a just peace among men"—the intention of His Holiness, Pope Pius XII. The pageant of prayer and patriotism will be the largest Catholic demonstration that has ever been held in Lake county and representative delegations of Catholic men and women from all of the parishes within the county will attend.

The membership of the Holy Name society is more than 200,000, within the Chicago Archdiocese and 7,000,000 nationally.

Leonard Latz, well known Waukegan architect, has drawn plans for an impressive altar which will be set against a towering background and which will bring into Weiss Field into a mighty outdoor cathedral for the ceremonies, at which His Excellency the Most Rev. Samuel A. Stritch, Archbishop of Chicago, will preside.

The Rev. Joseph A. Garrity, spiritual director of the Lake County Holy Name society and pastor of St. Anastasia church in Waukegan, in discussing plans for the event recently stated: "Never before in the history of the world has the Viceroy of Christ been so in need of our prayers. While the war-torn world is in turmoil, false philosophers and sinister organizations are using all the means and methods of modern science in their efforts to destroy Christian civilization."

Old Settlers Meet at Camp Lake Sunday

Pleasant memories of the "Old Settlers" picnic that used to be held at Paddock Lake and the many happy reunions held there, prompted a group of old timers to issue invitations for another such get-together which was held Sunday at Harry Orvis' resort at Camp Lake.

The Observer

Autumn note—J. C. James' famous dahlias are in bloom, and have been winning a lot of admiration the last few days.

Slips that pass in the type—We see where the caption writer for the Chi Trib referred, in connection with one of the pictures on the back page in Tuesday's issue, to the "wild Canadian wilderness."—Whaddya expect, brother whaddya expect? Tame wildernesses?

We see by the papers where a cleaning woman left a penny on a desk in the city hall at San Antonio, Tex., to see how long it would stay there, and it was there for 15 years. A friend of ours who left one of those "miniature" bottles of whisky (for medicinal purposes) in a desk didn't have that sort of luck, though. It went.

Who says folks around Antioch haven't a heart? When Barney Neveler suffered a cut tendon in a thumb a week ago Tuesday, his neighbors decided to help out a little. So they cut and shocked his corn Friday and Saturday. And postmaster Roy Kufalk, who was raised on a farm, and is still right proud to be able to turn to and put out as good a day's work as the next one, has been doing the milking. He gets a little break there, though. They have a milking machine.

Charles Venn may be reckoned as a pretty steady fellow in a busy world where most everyone is jumping about hither and thither. As proof of the steadiness of Charles, we submit: There is a brick house erected over 70 years ago at 877 Milwaukee avenue, Chicago. There Charles was born and there he still lives. He has been the owner of Venn's Island, Lake Marie, for over 30 years and has been a visitor in the lakes region for many years preceding the establishment of his summer residence here. Venn has been a subscriber to the Antioch News since it was founded by the late J. J. Burke in 1886. All of which makes Mr. Venn a fairly regular fellow, and steady in his habits.

Well, last week we broadcast an appeal for help in getting in all of the news as right as possible—and, folks, we really have been getting responses, too. Thanks! It's nice to know the Observer has a reader or so, too. Reminds us of something we read somewhere recently where a fellow paid a visit to a little hitty southern town that, nevertheless, had a newspaper. The visitor finally located the newspaper plant, in the rear of the general store. "Where's the editor?" he asked. "Oh, he's waiting on trade up in front." "Well, who are those two old fellows who are arguing with him?" "Oh, that's the circulation." Now, all we need is another Observer reader.

"Maybe it is a small world, at that," Mr. and Mrs. Otto S. Klass admitted when they got back from spending the week-end at Jacksonville, Ill., where they took their daughter, Doris, to enter the course of study at Illinois college. When they attended the reception held by the college president for parents of students, one of the "faculty wives" they met was the daughter of Attorney Churchill of Grayslake; the father of Miss Margaret McDorman, who is on the teaching staff at Antioch Township High school is the supervisor of the college farm at Jacksonville; and a young lady cashier they met during their stay was a high school friend of Miss Isabel Larimer of the Antioch High faculty!

In "Old Thoughts from a Country Manse" in last week's Burlington, Wis., Standard Democrat, the Rev. C. R. McBride says—

"Did you read what an unskilled laborer over in London had to say about the war? Well, in case you did not, this is what he is reported to have said: 'Isn't it funny when you come to look at times? For destroying life nothing seems too big a handicap, but for preserving a life there is always some obstacle.'"

"Now there is wisdom from a lowly place worthy the attention of prime ministers and presidents when they go boat riding."

"For war—for murdering men, maiming little children, burning homes, destroying valuable property the world has been centuries in creating—nothing is too costly. Day and night men tirelessly work, taxing themselves and the coming generations fabulous sums—which can never be repaid—to kill their fellowmen. They are pushed to a frenzy by some such meaningless slogans as 'A new order in Europe' or 'To save humanity.' They will do anything, even to the giving of their lives, to advance the cause of destruction. And the irony of it all is that when they have given their all 'For the new order' or 'To save humanity,' they have neither established the new order nor saved humanity. They have only destroyed the good that was already in the world."

"How hard it has been through the centuries to get men to invest in that which is constructive. Schools, hospitals, churches, orphanages, juvenile courts, playgrounds—things constructive—have come slowly and with the utmost difficulty. And today those organizations and programs which prom-

Mrs. Campbell, Former Antioch Resident, Dies

Mrs. Anna Denninger Campbell, formerly of Antioch, who saw the great Chicago fire of 1871 start near her home at Twelfth and Halsted streets as a child of 10, was laid to rest following funeral services at the chapel at 412 North Austin boulevard, Oak Park, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Campbell had made her home at 622 North Austin boulevard in Oak Park. Her death occurred Sunday.

She is survived by a brother, Henry Denninger, chief accountant at Brookfield zoo, and two daughters, Miss Anna Campbell and Mrs. Maude M. Puerkel.

Spectacular Northern Lights Awe Watchers Over Wide Area

"Oh, boy, lookit the northern lights!" "Gwan, ya dummy, them's army searchlights!"—These were some of the exclamations from awed on-lookers who beheld the spectacular display of the aurora borealis last Thursday evening.

Beginning as small patches and arcs of shifting light spears and diffuse glows off to the northwest and northeast, just at dark, the area of the lights shifted southward until in an hour or so they extended in a broad band from east to west, slightly south of the center of the sky.

Then, seeming to break up into fanciful darting groups and shimmering clouds of green-gold light, they swirled as from a central focal point directly over head until the entire sky was covered with their fairy-land splendor.

The lights, which at times seemed to give out a faint, silken rustling sound as they rapidly dimmed and brightened in various sections of the sky were so bright as to arouse the wonder of those who saw them. The illumination they furnished frequently rivaled that of moonlight. Considerable interference with radio and telegraph service was caused, especially early in the evening.

They were at their height around 11 o'clock, but continued until late at night. They were witnessed by watchers as far east as the Atlantic states, as well as in the middle west and western states, and as far south as Washington, D. C.

The display was one of the most brilliant seen since the striking phenomenon of colored northern lights of the "diffuse cloud" type which attracted considerable scientific attention in the late winter of 1918 or 1919.

Channel Lake Club to Hold Card Party

The Channel Lake Community club has announced a card party to be held at the school at Channel Lake on Tuesday evening, Sept. 30. There will be the usual card games with prizes and refreshments will be served.

One of the greatest happiness for the human race are but niggardly supported. In many cases support they had once earned is being withdrawn and applied on the side of destruction. "Really now, what hope can there be for us until we learn to put the enthusiasm and energy and money into constructive things that we now spend on the destructive?"

"That lowly London laborer spoke the wisdom of the ages when he spoke."

Motorists Do Good Job Driving 95% of Time; It's that 5% That Hurts!

Motorists do a good job of driving 95 per cent of the time. It's the 5 per cent of the time they let down that causes 99 per cent of all traffic accidents, and it's Mr. Motorist himself who causes them, not the "other fellow."

This opinion was voiced today by Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club, following a series of interviews with motorists who recently figured in collisions and a study of circumstances surrounding each case. While about 97 per cent of the persons stoutly proclaimed the mishap to be the result of the other driver's carelessness, study of the facts revealed that the crash could have been prevented by either driver in 99 per cent of the instances had either not indulged in the "fatal 5 per cent."

One motorist, for example, related how he was driving down a street in a blinding rainstorm. He said another driver swung into his path from a parked position without warning, causing the accident victim to swerve wildly to miss him. In so doing, he struck another car which had slowed down for the traffic light ahead. The total damage to both cars was $110. Upon reflection, the unfortunate motorist agreed that had he been watching more closely he would have seen the car pulling out of the parking place and slowed down to allow for it.

Another "crash" was driven from his home on Chicago's north side to one of his favorite fishing spots one morning about 5 a. m. He left early for two reasons: to tempt the fish during their morning forage for breakfast, and to avoid heavy traffic. There wasn't a car on the road within sight distance. He came to a cross-road he frequently passed and gave a casual look. At that moment another motorist ran the stop sign and hit him broadside. Damages were $475, and a second's attention would have prevented the ruination of a fishing trip and the unbalancing of the family budget for the next year.

Number 3 motorist was lighting his pipe and struck a safety island; Number 4 confessed that he was arguing with his wife, although he was driving within the law, and failed to see the curve in the road ahead; Number 5 said he was driving absolutely within the law when all at once he struck a pedestrian. Yes, he admitted, he was listening to an important news broadcast on his radio and not paying strict attention to the street ahead. And so it went.

About the only really unavoidable accidents are those caused by a motorist colliding with a cornerstone which has just fallen off a building into his path, a car falling into a crevasse just made by an earthquake, or a bridge washing from under a line of cars while crossing.

Ingleside Community Church Celebrates 40th Anniversary

Although the Rev. S. E. Pollock was unable to attend the fortieth anniversary celebration of Ingleside Community church Sunday, because of illness, members of the congregation he once served as pastor sent greetings to him at the hospital in Waukegan, where he is receiving treatment.

The church was originally organized Sept. 1, 1901, under the Congregational denomination. It was first located about two blocks west of the Grant Community High school site, on Grand Avenue and Route 59, but was moved to Ingleside in 1916.

At a period when it seemed as though it might be necessary to close the church, because of financial difficulties, Rev. Pollock, a Methodist and a new pastor of the parish, re-organized it as a community church and gave it a start toward a new period of usefulness.

Former pastors present at the celebration included the Rev. Merrill S. Tope of Morris, Ill., and the Rev. Raymond Laury, now pastor of St. Paul's Methodist church in Chicago. The Rev. Benton Wood, pastor of the Fox Lake Community church, also took part in the services. The Rev. Jesse Firestone is the present pastor and is now in his third year with the parish.

Three Expert Trouble-shooters

Telephones "out-of-order" are few and far between today—due to constant improvements in equipment and methods. But when something does go wrong, here's what happens:

1. "Repair Service" takes your trouble report promptly, finds your service card while you talk and takes down all the facts you can give her...

2. The Test Deskman examines service card for the record of your telephone—then makes a number of tests to decide the nature and location of the trouble...

3. The Repairman usually knows where to look before he arrives. He fixes the line, then reports back to Testman who makes careful tests to be sure service is ok.

Body Plant Combats Machine Tool Bottleneck

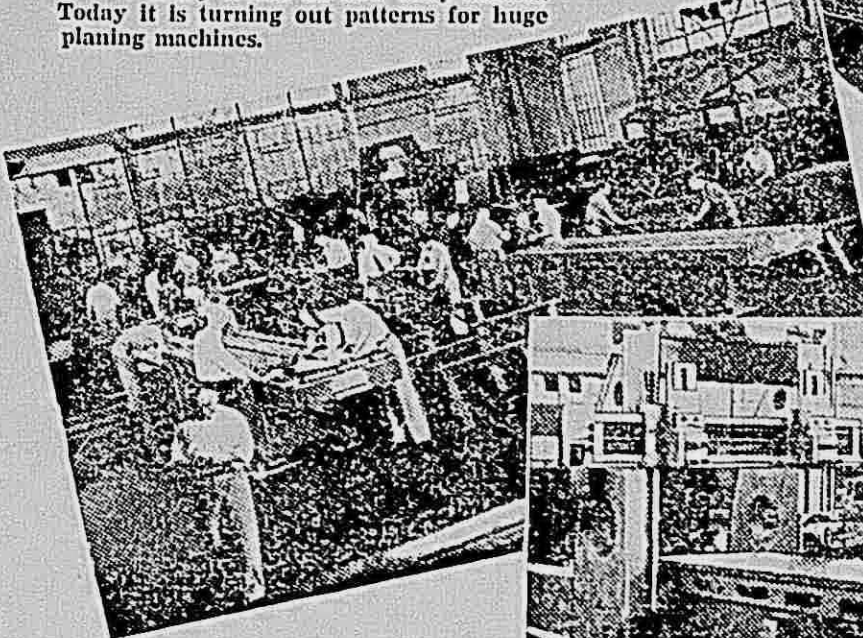

↑ This Fisher Body pattern shop normally works on new body models. Today it is turning out patterns for huge planing machines.

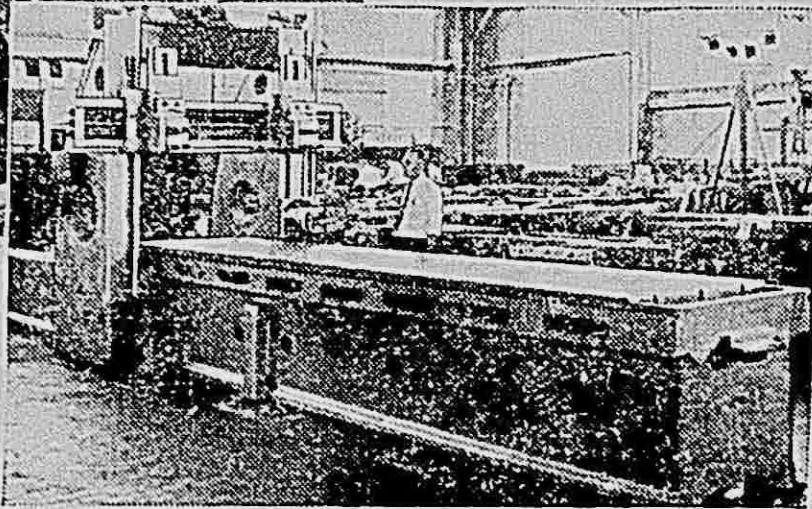

Adjustments on this cutting machine are so fine it could be brought down on the crystal of a watch without breaking it.

← Workmen who ordinarily would be engaged in producing auto dies now are busily assembling planers at an unheard of rate.

Here is the finished planer, one of the largest type in existence. It will help to relieve a serious machine tool bottleneck.

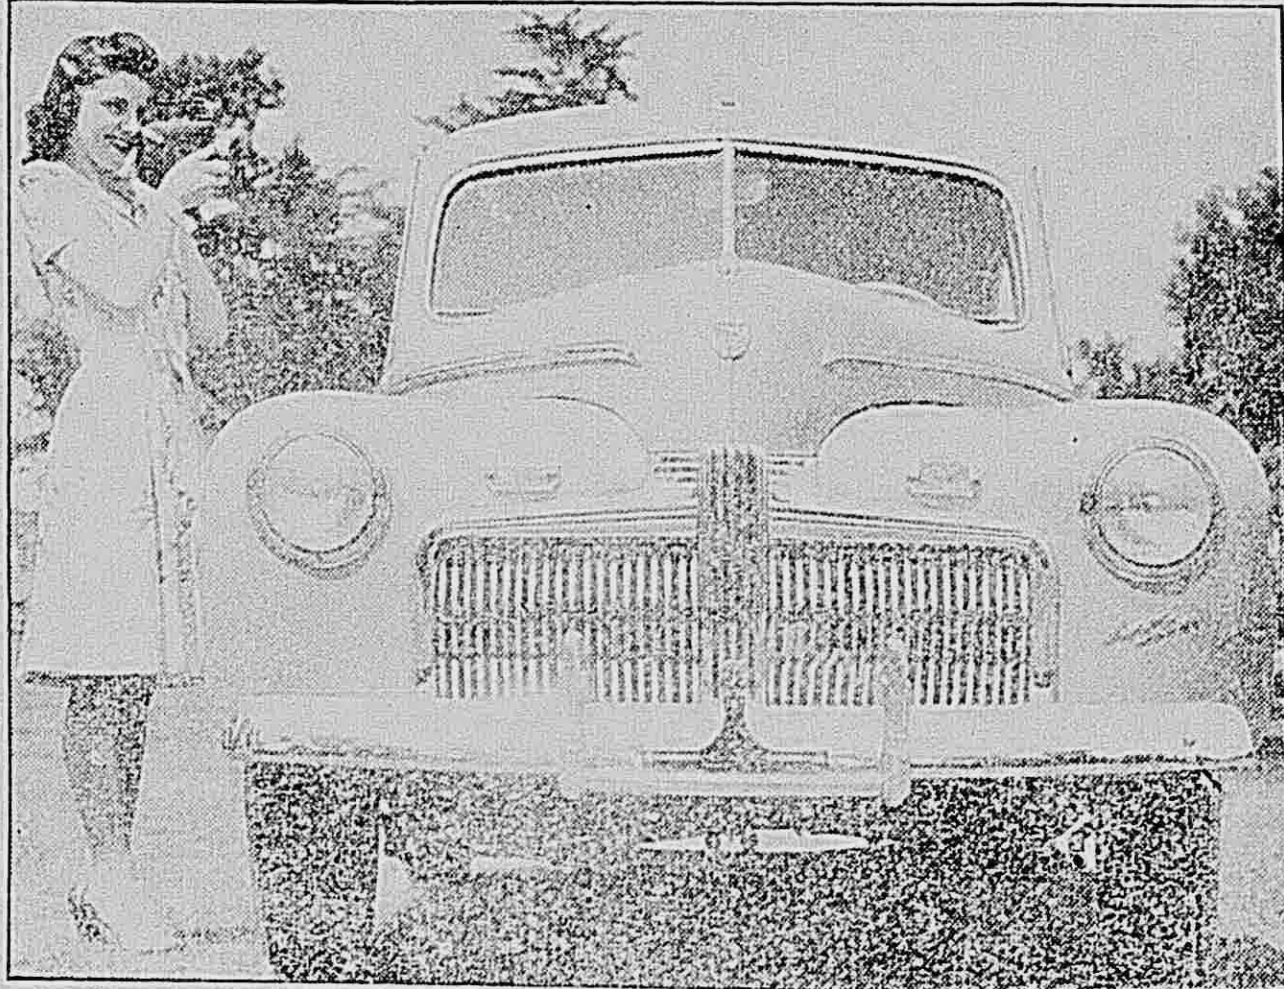

TO HELP relieve a shortage of machine tool equipment the OPM asked Fisher Body to manufacture 100 mammoth planers because the company which normally builds them had insufficient capacity to supply the full requirements of the defense program.

Backed by the tremendous resources of General Motors and more than 30 years' experience in fabrication of the huge dies and special tools needed in automobile body manufacture, the body-building division swung into its new task. Less than two months after the contract was signed the first planer was delivered by the Grand Rapids, Mich., stamping plant. Furthermore, it agreed to build 125 instead of 100, and in only 10 months time. Ordinarily six months are required to build even one.

This is an outstanding case of how General Motors, like others in the automobile industry, is swinging wholeheartedly into defense work. The Grand Rapids plant's equipment and facilities, never before used for anything but body work, were so adaptable for this particular job that it was able to step into the task at high gear with virtually no new machinery.

Here's a Preview of 1942 Ford

DEARBORN, Mich.—A distinctive frontal design sets the style for the new Ford passenger car line for 1942, introduced recently at a preview for the nation's automobile editors. The new Fords will be shown to the public soon in all Ford dealers' showrooms. A rustless steel radiator grille blends gracefully with an entirely new front contour which features a new arrangement of headlights and parking lamps. Offered in three lines—the Super DeLuxe, DeLuxe and Special, the 1942 Ford has a distinctive trim for each series of cars. Engineering improvements emphasize comfort and safety. The Super DeLuxe and DeLuxe lines are offered with either the famous V-8 or the new Ford "6" engines.

Smart Styling Keynotes New Chevrolet

Distinguished styling, characterized by a new massiveness, marks the new 1942 Chevrolet, introduced to the motoring public today. Shown above is the Special DeLuxe Sport Sedan, a roomy, luxurious, six-passenger model. A new grille treatment, with integral parking lights, and the smart new elongated front fender, which sweeps back into and opens with the front door, are design highlights. Interior appointments are in the modern mode.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D.D., Dean of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for September 28

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

THE FULFILLMENT OF HISTORY: THE NEW JERUSALEM

LESSON TEXT—Revelation 21:1-7, 10-12, 22-24.
GOLDEN TEXT—He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son.—Revelation 21:7.

A happy ending may not suit the fancy of modern writers of fiction, but it does suit God. He "who worketh all things after the counsel of his own will" (Eph. 1:11) will see to it that redeemed man shall "be to the praise of his glory" (Eph. 1:12). The eternal, omnipotent God will bring the history of His dealings with mankind to a glorious ending. The last book of the Bible comes to its last pages where, after dealing with the final struggle of man with his enemy Satan (which has gone on since the entrance of sin into the world in the Garden of Eden), we find the glorious, God-given revelation of the "divine, final restoration of the universe, a picture of the home where we who love the Lord Jesus will forever dwell."

I. "The Tabernacle of God Is with Men" (vv. 1-7).

Our God is always with His people, but there is a promise of the time when He shall "pitch His tent" (for thus we might translate the word "tabernacle") in their very midst and "be with them" in full and unhindered fellowship. This He once did for a time when "the Word was made flesh and dwelt among us" (John 1:14), or literally "tabernacled among us." In the day of which our lesson speaks He will come to live permanently with His people.

The blessings of His divine presence are beautifully described in verses 4 to 6. There will be no more tears, because every occasion for them is gone. There will be no death, pain or sorrow, for the one who sits upon the throne will have made everything new.

Christianity does not evade the question of sorrow and suffering, but it does point to a glorious day when they will be done forever. What a precious promise!

II. "The Holy City . . . Having the Glory of God" (vv. 10-12).

The description of the holy city is differently interpreted, but perhaps the best one is that it will be in the form of a pyramid on a square base 1,500 miles in width and length (12,000 furlongs—v. 16), rising in terraces, and 1,500 miles high at the top.

The description of the city is glorious beyond words (read 21:1 through 22:7), but the crowning fact of all is that it has "the glory of God." His presence means more than all the glories of precious stones and of "pure gold, like unto clear glass." He is more than His gifts, and His presence is more glorious than all His mighty works.

III. God the Almighty and the Lamb Are the Temple (vv. 22).

As long as we live under the present conditions of life, we cannot do without a place to meet to worship God and to receive spiritual help and strength—a temple. But when the redeemed are gathered in the Holy City they will have no need for a temple. The place of meeting with God "which now has to be delimited from the world, and set apart for God—yes, and held with determination and force of will against invading hosts—has there expanded to cover the whole area of human experience and activity. God's presence has no longer to be sought; it is known; it is felt, universal and all-pervading as the light of day" (C. Anderson Scott).

IV. No Need of the Sun—the Glory of God Did Light It (vv. 23, 24).

The great need of man in this world is light. He rejoices in the sun as it sheds its life-giving rays upon the earth. He does his work and finds his healthful recreation in the day. When darkness comes, he must have illumination, that he may read, study, work, or fellowship with others. From the flickering pine knot man went on to the candle, to the lamp; and now in most places he floods his city and his homes with the light of electricity. But even so there is too much darkness in the world, and the men who love darkness rather than light (see John 3:19) are able to practice their evil deeds.

In the New Jerusalem all will be light, for the One who is light (I John 1:5) and the source of all light, permits His glory to shine forth and "lighten it." Jesus, the Lamb, who is the light of the world (John 8:12), is the never failing lamp of the city.

In such light not only the nations of the earth, but their kings as well, will want to walk, doing honor with all their glory to the One who is all-glorious. The verses which follow our lesson tell us that the gates of the city shall never be closed, but only that which is good and honorable shall enter in. Nothing sinful, vile, or false shall come within its blessed portals.

ELIMINATE HENS THAT DON'T LAY

Don't Keep Poor Layers When Easy to Cull.

By H. H. ALP

(Poultry Extension Specialist, University of Illinois College of Agriculture.)

Can the birds in the home poultry flock pass the "physical" test? If they can't, they shouldn't be "drafted" for another year of service in the "army" of egg layers, because chickens, like soldiers, are playing an important part in the present emergency. They have been "drafted" to furnish millions of healthful eggs under the nationwide food-for-defense program.

If flock owners haven't kept accurate records of their layers' abilities, it is especially important that the birds' physical characteristics be studied carefully before they are put in their quarters for the winter. Fortunately, it is comparatively easy to distinguish layers from non-layers by the culling method, after a little practice.

Bald-headed as they often are, good layers are usually tight-feathered over the rest of their bodies. The feathers generally are dry, frayed and "washed-out," and good layers are active, good feeders, and have good dispositions.

The head of a good layer is usually clean-cut, well-balanced, of medium length and depth, and the eyes are quite large and prominent. Be suspicious of the laying ability of the bird with a thick or coarse head or the bird with a crow-head.

And the back of a good layer should be wide over its entire length and free from hard fat. A narrow spring of ribs or a back that tapers decidedly or slopes sharply to the rear indicates small feeding capacity.

The body should be deep, but flock owners shouldn't be fooled into thinking that birds have body depth just because the feathers are long and loose. Depth of the body can be measured by placing the thumbs on the front end of the keel bone and the middle fingers on the rear of the keel bone. Depth of the front and rear can be measured by spanning the body from back to breast with the thumb and middle finger and sliding them along the keel and back.

If the bird is a good layer, her comb, wattles and earlobes will be large, plump, smooth and waxy. If the comb is limp, the bird may be laying, but when the comb is dried, especially at molting time, the bird is not laying.

AGRICULTURE IN INDUSTRY

By Florence C. Wood

(This is one of a series of articles showing how farm products are finding an important market in industry.)

Peaches for Fuel

Ingenuous is the fuel business developed by a California man who makes a round of canning plants, collects discarded peach stones, dries them in the sun, then resells them for fireplace fuel. Scientists believe that some day important industrial products will be found in peach stones.

In colonial days, peaches were used for cider and brandy and were preserved by drying. Forsythe's famous fruit book of 1803 reports that peaches ripened from July to November and the great surplus was "applied as food to hogs."

When canning methods were perfected, the fruit grew in favor and now ranks next to the apple. From 30 to 50 million bushels are grown annually. In the Pacific states, 90 per cent of the 20-million-bushel crop is canned. Some commercial pectin is derived from the peach skins.

California, Georgia, Arkansas, North Carolina and Virginia produce peaches by the million bushels. Important areas are along the eastern and southern shores of the Great Lakes in Michigan and Ohio and around the Finger Lakes in New York. There in the spring, the heat absorbed by the lakes retards blooming and lessens the danger of frost. In the winter, the heat released from the water moderates the temperature and prevents wood and bud injury from freezing.

Nowhere, except in America, are peaches grown commercially. In England and on the continent, the fruit is a delicacy, grown under glass or trained on trellises. The results are excellent, but costly, and peaches there are a luxury only for the rich.

Rural Briefs

Water piped to the poultry range by a temporary system of old pipe or hose laid on the surface of the ground will save many hours in doing poultry chores.

Carelessness in handling eggs for market lost 5 per cent of the United States egg production in 1939. This loss represented 175,000,000 dozen eggs with a cash value of $30,000,000.

Electrical Shock for Insanity

There is a new treatment for insanity: electrical shock. It is now being tried out at the New York State Psychiatric Institute. Like insulin and metrazol, the electric shock somehow pushes back the clouds that pervade the mind of the demented person. The human mind is inseparable from the human body, from the structures and the chemicals of the body, not only in the brain but in all organs. Step by step science is discovering its secrets.

Altitude Affects Ratio of Auto Motor's Performance

Mid-western motorists who take vacations in the mountains and wonder why their cars won't perform as well in higher elevations as they do on the gentle slopes of Illinois and Indiana should recall the story of the man trying to boil potatoes on Pike's Peak, the Chicago Motor club pointed out in a bulletin recently.

"Just as that puzzled camper found that boiling water in rare air was a difficult task so efficient operation of an automobile is curtailed in mountainous regions," the club bulletin says. "Differences in atmospheric pressure affect automobile horse power, just as they do boiling water or crackling campfires."

The following table, based on an automobile with a rated horse power brake test of 100 at sea level, illustrates clearly altitude's effect on motors:

Antioch Defeats McHenry Gridders

(Rose Marie Zellhofer)
(Rosalie Sibley)

The Antioch Sequoits defeated Mc-Henry in the opening game of the season September 19 winning by a score of 6 to 0.

Coach Gerald Reed's McHenry team had a fine passing system, but incessant fumbling destroyed their chance at victory.

The only touchdown during the game resulted from an intercepted pass in the last half of the final quarter.
Arthur (Bud) Maplethorpe intercepted a pass and broke away for a 63 1/3 yard run but was cheated of a touchdown when he ran out of bounds only 2 1/2 yard from the enemy's goal line.
George Sterbenz, Antioch's left halfback, carried the ball over.

The beginning ball during the first quarter took Antioch by surprise, but during the second and third quarters, the Sequoits made up for lost time.

George Sterbenz' tackling and running and Jack White's tackling were outstanding among individual plays.

Jim Roepneck, co-captain of the Antioch team, was unable to play because of leg injury received during a practice game.

Spectators from McHenry and Antioch lined the side of the field with the cheerleaders of both teams leading yells.

The starting line-ups for the two teams were as follows:

Ted Maplethorpe	LG Jackson

at Antioch Township High school for over twelve years, has resigned her position, and the vacancy has been filled by Mrs. Eva Burnett of Antioch.

"The twelve years at school are about the most pleasant I have ever spent," said Mrs. Murray in her delicious Scottish brogue.

Mrs. Murray, who was born in Lanarkshire, Scotland, attended school there and as a girl she was ambitious to become a school teacher. Instead however she came to Canada in 1913, where she was employed for some time, first as a bookkeeper at a newspaper business house and later for a wholesale firm.

In 1928 she came to Antioch. The "pace and vastness of America" as well as the "luxurious way of living" of its people impressed Mrs. Murray.
"Antioch is a very friendly town—I felt at home right away," said Mrs.
Murray.

Though cooking is her vocation, cooking is also one of her avocations, as is music. Reading—chiefly histories and biographies—is another of her hobbies. She recently gave a talk on Scotland before the Sophomore class in English which was studying "Lady of the Lake."

For a short time Mrs. Murray will continue to work part-time at the high school cafeteria, but when she leaves, her willing service and cheerful heartiness will be sincerely missed by faculty and student body alike.
